"Stop Worry!"

I'm telling you, just wake up!

Wake up, wake up, wake up, wake up

Sister Nancy

Oh reaching, Imma reaching, Imma reaching

Imma reaching out, say, "Wake up!"

I peep your struggle in your pain ma

I know my team, I weigh your number when it's game time

There's too much buzz around my name now to stay discreet
How I'm the one who bring the fame 'round when I couldn't speak?

I show my bro another way out

I only trust you if you lay down, when shit was getting deep

Another summer with them gray clouds, puddles 'round my feet

Same disruptive and remain wild, never giving peace

Since we huddled 'round the grave, fry in sun and then we freeze

Grab a cup and let my face drown, accompanied with trees

Sit, stuttering away, cause the company to leave

Just need something I could break down, budge against the heat

Buckle up, we 'bout to change routes, never changing speed

Sudden luck could go a great mile

All this luggage make the plane ground

Growing up I learned to play a crowd, but I know when to leave

Too much substance for the faint crowd, don't know when to keep

Tryna cut it, I'm a strange flower growin'gout the creek
Know the job, if it can't file, come without receipts
Peep your hustle in your brain, ma
I hold the D, I can't fumble on a game shot

I peep your struggle in your pain ma (Wake up, bumshot)
I know my team, I wear your number when it's game time

I say, "Wake up everybody, yeah we'll wake up."

Aye, I say "Wake up!"

Rasta people, you know you want to wake up

Rise up, I say, "Rise up!"

Sister Nancy, man MIKE, have to rise up

Repeat (Wake up!)

Stand before, jump for joy

You know that Sister Nancy

Say, "Wake up!"

Everybody, if you're sleeping, wake up

No more sleepin' in bed, the city hungry

Must be fed, the city play, must be late

Your Momma Nancy, the living legend

I say, "Wake up!"

Everybody, I say, "Wake up, wake up, wake up, bumshot"

No sleepin' in bed, repeat-peat-peat no sleepin' in bed

Hungry, must be fed, I say the Lion must be late

You listen to this original jam
