

Meet Your Maker - In Flames Lyrics

This Lyrics is downloaded from Showthelyrics.com check out for more lyrics

"Meet Your Maker"

Meet your maker

Say something that makes sense

These are your last words

So make them worth the wait

Meet your maker

It's time to set things straight

These are your last words

So make them count or it's too late

In time we all disappear

We're pushed to the edge

The countdown has begun

At the end of the masquerade

Your time's up, now there's hell to pay

It's only down from here

You think you have a choice but there's no other way
(You think you have a choice but there's no other way)

Meet your maker

As you receive the final key

These are your last words

Are you ready to see what lies beneath?

Meet your maker

Everything else is dead

This is the final moment

All is done and all is said

In time we all disappear

We're pushed to the edge

The countdown has begun

At the end of the masquerade

Your time's up, now there's hell to pay

It's only down from here

You think you have a choice but there's no other way

Meet your maker

Say something that makes sense

These are your last words
So make them worth the wait

At the end of the masquerade
Your time's up, now there's hell to pay

It's only down from here
You think you have a choice but there's no other way

For any correction please mail us at showthelyrics1@gmail.com
