"War"

Don't say - that your words don't cut me deep

With the knife between your teeth

You just smile and watch me bleed

But this won't take your pain away at all

You cut me open - leave me broken

Just to feel alive

You let me suffer - can't recover

Was it all a lie

This won't take your pain away at all

The higher the wall the harder you fall

Did you get what you came here for

Did you come to start a war

This game will kill you in your sleep

Did you get what you came here for

Did you come to start a war

So cold - Like the armor on your chest put the barrel to my neck while you're wishing me the best but

this won't take your pain away at all

The higher the wall the harder you fall

Did you get what you came here for

Did you come to start a war

This game will kill you in your sleep

Did you get what you came here for

Did you think you'd take it all

This game will kill you in your sleep

Did you get what you came here for
