"Scars"

We're whispering in circles again

We're using different words, same meanings

You ask me if this love is worth the end (ooh-ooh-ooh)

You know that I've been broken before

I know that you could break me more

My instinct is to run before my heart is torn

Try to hold my defences and hide behind my walls

But when I hold onto you, I can't help but let them fall

So, I'll let you hold onto my heart

No, I won't run away even if you tear me apart

You know I will always stay

'Cause it's better to try and love too hard

Than to always be stuck at the start

So, I'll let you hold onto my heart

'Cause loving you's worth all the scars

Ooh-ooh, oh-oh-oh

Worth all the scars, ooh-ooh-oh-oh

We're sitting underneath streetlights

The neon yellow lights up your eyes

If this all crumbles down, at least we have tonight

So, I'll hold all these seconds, and memorize them all

'Cause when I hold onto you, I can't help but always fall

So I'll let you hold onto my heart

No, I won't run away even if you tear me apart

You know I will always stay

'Cause it's better to try and love too hard

Than to always be stuck at the start

So I'll let you hold onto my heart

'Cause loving you's worth all the scars

Ooh-ooh, oh-oh-oh

Worth all the scars, ooh-ooh-oh-oh

So, I'll let you hold onto my heart
Even if you tear me apart
'Cause it's better to try and love too hard
Than to always be stuck at the start
So I'll let you hold onto my heart
'Cause loving you's worth all the scars

Ooh-ooh, oh-oh-oh
Worth all the scars, ooh-ooh
Baby, loving you's worth all the scars
